'Pork Barrel' Measures Hit By President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—President Coolidge intends to put his foot down squarely on all attempts to enact "pork barrel" legislation at this session of Congress, it was announced at the White House today.

Drastic cuts must be made in the river and harbor bill before it will receive the approbation of the executive, it was said.

The president regards with extreme displeasure the sudden "jumping up" on the total appropriations carried in the measure from the original figure of approximately $25,000,000 to nearly double that amount.

NATION FACES PROBLEM IN DEBT RULE

Payment Of Obligations By France Is Watched By European Powers

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The most immediate question of the foreign policy confronting the United States government is neither the world court nor the League of Nations, but what shall be done about refunding the debt of France.

This is of concern to the whole European continent and of particular concern to Great Britain. The situation has become so interwoven with the settlements already made and with the general economic problems of Europe growing out of the Dawes reparation plan that the helmsman of the American ship of state will have to steer cautiously in the next twelve months to avoid interruption of friendly relations with any of the powers and yet collect the debts due.

The bill collector is never popular whether the case be a nation or an individual and nothing seems so intangible as the money which went up in the smoke of the battlefield and into the pockets of the munition makers of a few years ago.

Money Spent Here
Ambassador Jusserand's speech in New York reminding his hearers that France spent in America all but one-sixth of the three billions she borrowed from the United States during the war is significant of what France is thinking because it will be noted that a few days ago M. Jusserand began formal conversations with the Washington government on the refunding of the French debt.

The drive was made without untoward incident, although a special search was made and extra heavy guards ordered out for fear of a demonstration by disgruntled Egyptian radicals.

King's Speech
The ceremonies on arrival were quickly completed and the king launched into his speech.

"My relations with foreign powers continue friendly," he said, reading from a manuscript. "The campaign of hostility to British rights and interests in Egypt and the Sudan, inspired rather than discouraged by Premier Zaghloul, culminated in the murder of Sir Lee Stack in the streets of Cairo and obliged my government to demand redress."

"These demands which the present Egyptian government accepted are designed to secure respect for those interests which are of vital concern to my empire and which my government specifically reserved to their absolute discretion when my protectorate over Egypt was withdrawn."

MEXICAN REBELS EXECUTED CLAIM

Thirteen Are Implicated In Plot to Blow Bridge Reported Missing

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 9.—Thirteen Mexicans arrested in Agua Prieta on charges of being implicated in a Mexican revolutionary movement were missing yesterday and it was believed they have been executed.

The men, taken into custody on specific charges of having taken part in the burning of a bridge on the Douglas-Cananea highway, failed to arrive in Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, today, as Mexican officials said they would. They were last seen when marched out of Agua Prieta under heavy armed military guard.

It was said at the time they were to be immediately entrained for Nogales but a closer investigation hinted they were headed for another destination.

Quick Merger Of Railroads Is Advocated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Voluntary consolidation of railroads into a number of strong and efficient systems, with the approval of the Interstate Commerce commission is provided in a bill introduced in the House today by Chairman Winslow of the House interstate and foreign commerce committee. The bill carries out President Coolidge's recommendation to Congress in his message.

Should the railroads fail to effect a voluntary consolidation within seven years the bill would give the Interstate Commerce commission authority to compel consolidation through division of rates.

Creeks and streams, including the Kentucky river, already have overflowed their channels and entire communities are inundated.

Electric light and power lines in many districts have been made inoperative and many sections were in darkness during the night.

Mines have ceased operations. Damage, it was estimated, will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Telephone communication with the affected district has been paralyzed and only meager details of the extent of the flood are available. These report the town of Noon, Ledgehill county, inundated, with residents moving out of their homes.

The mining towns of Jenkins, McRoberts, Burdine and Dunham, on the Consolidated Coal company, and Fleming, Wayland, Wheelwright and Garrett are without light or power.

Fellow workmen who were eyewitnesses to the accident declare that King had just left the scaffold when the accident happened, and was descending the ladder.

As he made a downward step he appeared to lose his balance, and reached for a wire to steady himself. There came a flash and a scream, and the man was hurled violently down, falling some six feet and landing on his face.

When workmen reached him, King was to all appearances dead. Calls were at once sent to the police and fire departments, and the prompt and efficient response explains the miracle that the man came through the desperate experience alive.

World Court Gives Way to Appropriation

The committee recommended that agricultural legislation be deferred until the president's agricultural committee gave no place whatever on the calendar for the court.

Mercury Goes Down, People Prepare to 'Dig In' Till Spring Comes

REV. EDMONDS ON BOOK OF ROMANS

Presbyterian Pastor Gives Another Sermon on
Paul's Teaching

Continuing the series of sermons based on the book of Romans, Rev. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church spoke Sunday morning from the text, Romans 6:1: "Shall we continue in sin?" He said:

"In chapters six and seven of Romans, Paul discusses the darkest fact in human history. Note his approach to the subject, 'Shall we continue in sin?' He seems to say, 'I do not understand everything about this dark problem; who does? How did sin enter the world? Why did God permit it? Why was it not there to bar the door? How could it enter if God be sovereign? What is sin's destiny?' All these and other matters connected with sin, Paul does not attempt to answer.

People who attend football games and baseball games and play cards and make themselves companionable are a pretty good sort.

There are those who think it idle folly to go to a ball game; others move around and say it is useless to solve a crossword puzzle; and many who do not play golf make fun of the person who does.

But take a moment and compare the man (or woman) who has a hobby with those who haven't. You'll be surprised.

Some mothers have the hobby of making tasty pastry. Are they loved? We'll say they are!

Some fathers have the hobby of taking the youngsters on trips. Do they get the confidence of their children? We'll say they do!

Some judges have the hobby of learning whether or not there are mitigating circumstances in cases coming before them. Do they win back lost souls? You can bet your life on it!

The man who lacks enthusiasm might as well be dead.

The man who lacks enthusiasm might as well be dead.

Playing the game until the last bell is the thing.

A headline in The Glendale Evening News described a pastor's sermon as "inspiring." It was trite, as well as true. Preachers day by day go forth with inspiring words in face of odds which the average mortal would disdain to take in business enterprise.

Little in this life is accorded pastors in their way of pleasure other than promised spiritual rewards, yet the writer believes some philanthropist should create a fund for financing vacations more than earned by the optimistic souls who sell the gospel.

Nothing has a more broadening influence than travel. Our preachers should travel. But their salaries do not permit it, as a rule.

And stealing still continues stealing.

"Paul has nothing to say about environment and heredity—he calls it by a terse word—sin. The cure cannot be found in a change of surroundings or increased culture. Paul proposes to take every man to Calvary where he may get a new nature. God makes it terribly hard for a man to be lost. Jesus Christ is a light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world. To be saved—look and live."

Sin Is Responsible

"Sin is responsible for the ruin of the world. People are not merely poor, or stupid or friendless, but sinful. Sin ruined the first Eden and has been busy wrecking Edens ever since. Paradise failed, not because the flowers stopped blooming, or the trees no longer bore fruit, or the birds stopped singing, or the rivers ran dry, but because man fell. If the world is to be straightened out, sin must be dealt with on God's basis."

"Paul is not discussing so much the penalty of sin, as the fact of sinning. . . . If there were no sin, there would be no penalty. . . . It is not so much that sin is punished, as that sin punishes. . . . This is the dark fact against which Paul throws himself. Shall we continue in sin?"

"In chapters six and seven, he pleads . . . for a death sentence against sin. How shall we that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?"

"His second plea is life. If we are dead with Christ, we should also live with Him. . . . The life of Christ in the believer will produce, not sin, but righteousness. Sin nailed Christ to the cross, crowned Him with thorns, broke His heart. His life in you should not produce the thing that crucified Him. . . . How then, in view of all this, shall we continue in sin? Sinning pre-supposes a sinful nature."

"Reformation is not all of salvation. Salvation changes the nature, as well as the conduct."

Paul's Argument

"Paul sets forth also, a masterful argument touching sin and the law. 'I had not known sin, but by the law.' Law demands perfection. When we go up against a perfect standard, imperfection is made manifest. But the law is a school master to bring us to Christ." As in olden days, when the streets were full of peril, the school master came to guide and guard pupils safely to school, so the law which in itself cannot save, comes to the soul in its battle with fierce temptation, leads it into the presence of its conqueror almighty, the Great Captain of our salvation, and shouts, "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

"Shall we continue in sin? Why should we, with such a Saviour? We are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. Who has said: 'I give unto them eternal life, and no man shall be able to pluck them out of My hand. Now unto Him who is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultlessly before the throne of His glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God, our Saviour, be glory and majesty, both now and forever!'"

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

A very wealthy man once said: "People without a hobby are worthless."

Of course, he was speaking literally. He meant that people who have lost their enthusiasm cannot amount to much.

If you get into the game of writing limericks, solving crossword puzzles, playing golf, singing for your own and others' pleasure—

If you have a hobby, the chances are that worry doesn't worry you.

People who attend football games and baseball games and play cards and make themselves companionable are a pretty good sort.

There are those who think it idle folly to go to a ball game; others move around and say it is useless to solve a crossword puzzle; and many who do not play golf make fun of the person who does.

URGES REALTORS TO GET MEMBERS

Purpose Of Organization Is Set Forth By Head Of National Order

President W. L. Twining of the Glendale real estate board today announced the receipt of the following letter from President H. E. Emes of the national association.

"It was augmented by a wish of the national president asking Mr. Twining to send him the result of the 'California Realty Board Membership Week' in this city so that it might be given national publicity.

"When it was announced that the realty boards of California had dedicated the week of December 8 to 12 as 'California Realty Board Membership Week,' devoted to bringing into the membership of local boards every reputable and competent real estate dealer in the state, it set for itself an aim which must be the aim of the realtors everywhere.

"If organized real estate men are to set up the standards of sound practice for their vocation, if they are going to establish confidence in the professional judgment and professional good faith of the realtor, they must admit every able and responsible man in the vocation into that membership.

"It is only by complete organization that we can have such a discipline of our vocation as will establish the code of ethics of the realtor in the public mind with the old, old code that every physician works under, the code that has separated the physician from the quack and the sharp practitioner from the time of the Greek Hypocrates.

"On the other hand every reputable real estate dealer in the real estate business owes it to his vocation to help keep up its standards, to set up the best relations with his fellow brokers, to facilitate the freest exchange of his commodity, and to aid in making real estate a service to clients and community worthy of the importance which it has in supplying the great human need for shelter. Every man who is worth his salt in the real estate business needs the real estate board to aid him in reaching his business ideals, just as every board needs men.

Editor The Evening News—in the November 6 issue of your valued paper, I read with interest the resolution offered by the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and will add that I heartily concur in same according to grounds covered, especially the first and sixth paragraphs.

However, I observe that there is no reference made in regard to employers procuring their help in Glendale.

I happen to be a man who depends on day labor for the whereabouts to support a family of six, I have lived in this city the past two months. In that time I have been fortunate enough to find one day's work in the city limits of Glendale. My trade carries me to all parts of the county, therefore I could not say that this same condition exists with other mechanics in the city, but the writer has a large number of acquaintances who are working from 50 per cent to 90 per cent of their time out of the city, all of whom are in the building trades.

Mrs. LeMar will be hostess to the Parent-Teacher association reading circle during the month of December. Wednesday meetings will be called to order at 11 o'clock, reading until 12 o'clock, when the members will partake of lunch, tea being served by the hostess.

Reading and discussion of articles will be resumed at 1 o'clock, and continued till 2 o'clock, permitting members of the club to reach the school house in time for the session. Mrs. Verne will have charge of the reading.

I believe in spending my money with the merchants in the city where I reside, and follow that policy. While there are others that may believe in following the employers follow; that is, to find the cheapest, and there make the purchase, regardless of where it may be, even though it be floaters or peddlars from other outlying cities. Why shouldn't the owner patronize the home contractor even though his price may be a little higher than the out-of-town man?

This may look unreasonable, in view of the fact that the building permits this year will equal in value that of 1923. But such is the case.

I believe in spending my money with the merchants in the city where I reside, and follow that policy. While there are others that may believe in following the employers follow; that is, to find the cheapest, and there make the purchase, regardless of where it may be, even though it be floaters or peddlars from other outlying cities. Why shouldn't the owner patronize the home contractor even though his price may be a little higher than the out-of-town man?

Thursday night the Occidental College Glee club will appear at La Crescenta Community church. The singers will give a concert, admission to which will be free.

Members of the drama section of the Women's club are rehearsing on a one-act playlet to be given in January. Those taking part are: Mesdames D. Fred Pinkus, A. F. Hopkins, Virna Walker and Mary B. Darow.

Therefore, I would suggest that the following paragraph be considered by the directors and it, or one of a like meaning, be adopted and added to the resolution published in your paper on the above date:

"That is well known throughout the country that Glendale is the fastest growing city in the United States, therefore we ask all owners, builders, contractors and all other employers to co-operate in the letting of contracts to Glendale contractors and the employing of Glendale employees (both men and women) insofar as is possible to do, as it is these employees and the wages they receive that enable the larger portion of business houses and industries to exist. The expenditures of these working men and women depend on the wage received

RECKLESS DRIVER IN POLICE COURT

F. P. O'Donnell, Tujunga, Pays $250 Fine; Over 200 Cases Are Tried

Over 200 cases were heard yesterday before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court. The highest fine was paid by Frank P. O'Donnell of Tujunga, who pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge and left the courtroom poorer by $250. Forty-two violators of the one-hour parking regulation now in effect in the business district paid $5 fines. Numbers of fortunate offenders were let off with suspended sentences, their explanations seeming to soften the heart of Judge Lowe.

W. Garrison and A. Lewis, arrested in Los Angeles through the efforts of Lieutenant W. J. Royle and Sergeant Charles P. Blake of the detective bureau, Glendale police department, were bound over to the Los Angeles superior court on forgery charges, following their preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon. Bail in both instances was fixed at $1,000 cash. R. Nelson and John Lamey, arrested last week through the co-operation of Captain Townsend of the Los Angeles sheriff's office, were bound over to the superior court by Judge Lowe on burglary charges, following their preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon. Their bail was also fixed at $1,000 each.

Nelson and Lamey are the "real estate burglars" whose method, according to Lieutenant Royle, was to enter homes on the pretense that they were salesmen interested in buying real estate property. While one was shown over the premises, it is said, the other would steal everything he could lay his hands on. Miss Florence Shoop of 411 West Patterson avenue identified these men as the ones who had robbed her house, and they are also understood to be wanted in Pasadena.

THOSE WHO BRING—
Sunshine into the lives of others multiply their own joys.
Fear into the hearts of little children lay up trouble for themselves.
Suspicion into a community cannot complain if their own heart is broken.
War upon the world seldom do the actual fighting.
A scoundrel to justice have served the entire community.
The facts to light are never popular with those whose profits are ruined.

PROTECTING THE GULLIBLE

The attempt to form an organization that will be nationwide, to protect investors from blue-sky swindlers, is quite an undertaking, it would seem. The effort is being sponsored by a New York commercial organization, with the approval of the Department of Commerce. Cities all over the country are being called upon to form committees for this purpose.

There is plenty of ground for this solicitude for the public, for, in spite of continued warnings to the people and laws against these fakirs and swindlers, they continue to flourish. The people either love to be fooled, or else they cannot resist the extravagant promises made, which common sense should tell them could not be fulfilled. The more extravagant the claims, the more readily the people accept them, whether it is a promise of 100 per cent return on an investment or of renewed youth, beauty or health in ten lessons. As Dickens says in Barnaby Rudge, "False priests, false prophets, false doctrines of all kinds veiled in hypocrisy and clothed with ridicule, have always appealed to a large and unthinking portion of mankind."

If everyone should take for his motto the saying of an eastern financier, who became very wealthy through wise investments, there would be no need for an organization to protect the people from swindlers. This man said, "You can't beat 6 per cent." This was the way he summed up his financial career.

The dazzling proposition made by the oily-tongued stranger may turn out as he predicts once in a thousand times. The other 999 times those who give credence to his story lose their savings. It would almost seem that they are undeserving of protection.

OUR NATIONAL DISGRACE

Those who are advocating the ratification of the Child Labor amendment and working for it have the welfare of the future citizens of the United States at heart. They have no personal interest in the outcome of the controversy. Those who are opposing the measure, the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Grange, cannot be said to have any unselfish motives prompting them. Their opposition is well organized and well financed since the outcome involves personal profits.

Arkansas is the only state to have ratified the amendment so far. Georgia, North Carolina and Massachusetts have rejected it. It has been endorsed by the American Federation of Labor.

Child labor and illiteracy go hand in hand. Where is our vaunted equality of opportunity when so many of our children must toil in the sweat shops, the mines, the factories and the fields for long hours every day? How can the problems of our country be solved by those who have no opportunities for study or play? In this section of the country we do not see any of this child exploitation. Our children have too few duties as a rule rather than too many, and we are inclined to regard the matter as much ado about nothing. But it is true that many mere babies of six and seven years are compelled to drudge long hours every day in field and cannery and factory. The state of California should have no part in this national disgrace.

HANDLING CRIME

There may be much to be desired in the way Los Angeles is handling the crime situation, but the methods of the Chicago police are anything but conducive to law and order. Police Chief Collins' plan is this: To arrest all men known to have a police record and to drive them from Chicago; to manhandle gang members on the spot without bringing them to court. The police chief says: "The special squads will not trouble about taking gangs to court, but will deal out justice in alleys, soft drink parlors or wherever gangs are found."

Such methods are unsound and they are certainly not legal. A police officer has no more right than a private citizen to deal out what he assumes to be justice. His motives are not likely to be of the best nor his judgment sound. A lot of gangsters may get what is coming to them by this method, but they will not get justice, and that is something to which even a gangster is entitled in this country. When a police chief authorizes his men to be judge and jury he is overstepping his own authority and contributing to lawlessness.

The New York World says if a man with a police record is at present obeying the law he should be allowed to stay in Chicago unmolested. If he is breaking the law he should be arrested and brought to trial. To begin manhandling him and running him out of the city is to make a criminal out of him, whether he wants to be one or not.

THE BRITISH VIEWPOINT

A lady candidate for Parliament in Great Britain is suing a London newspaper for libel because it published an interview with her in which too much stress was placed upon her remarks about wearing her best clothes and her jewels in Parliament if elected. If that constitutes libel, then many American women are overlooking a good thing for newspapers in this country cannot be said to use a great deal of restraint in what they publish concerning anyone who happens to be in the public eye. No detail is too intimate or too sacred to escape the glaring light of publicity in the American newspaper. But, on the other hand, it is hard to conceive of the American woman becoming indignant because her good clothes and jewels are mentioned, or because the possession of such articles would seem to class her with the idle rich. Truly, the British people are hard to understand.

SELF-DISCIPLINE

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske warns the United States that there is danger ahead of us, due to our lax and luxurious habits. He says the people of the other leading nations of the world are sternly disciplining themselves. We are getting everything but discipline and so we are warned to "look out."

Self indulgence does not lead to greatness, to be sure. But if there is a class in this country that thrives on parlor sports it is a very small class, and while we do not take any too kindly to discipline we glory in clean competition and physical supremacy. This was demonstrated in Los Angeles Thanksgiving day when 57,000 people assembled in the Coliseum to see a football game between high school teams.

To promote good health, keep feet and country dry.

SPEAKING OF CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUBS!

Tax Publication

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Much excitement is still being caused by the publication of the income tax reports.

There seem to be two passages in the law, one forbidding such publication under penalty and the other calling for it.

The inspection of the income tax reports has had a good deal of trouble. For instance, a house in the clothing trade, it was said, sent a representative to the collector's office to find out how much taxes were paid by a business rival firm and their offices. A jeweler's firm desired information regarding a number of customers who had been slow in meeting their bills. A bond brokerage house was evidently on the lookout for prospective customers.

The passage of the law requiring the publication of income tax returns was conceived in envy and in hatred of the rich on the part of the poor. It is an unwarrantable invasion of privacy and it has aroused considerable opposition on the part of those who did not care to have their incomes published.

Horoscope

Contrary influences disturb this day, according to astrology for while Mars and Venus are in benefit aspect Neptune is strongly adverse.

It is evidently a perilous time for lovers, whose wooing will be subject to misunderstandings and even to serious quarrels.

This is not a lucky wedding day, since they who plight their troth may be easily persuaded to deceive each other.

They who would make the most of the opportunities of this day will pursue routine affairs, making sure that all constructive work is well directed by the planetary government.

Conflicts between men and women in various lines of business and professional activity may be sharply accentuated in the coming year.

Great differences of opinion will be expressed regarding national affairs and Congress comes under a sway of the stars that presages a session of sensations.

Extremes of conduct will mark men in the coming year, for there will be many who seek to make their way by reason of the oldest of arts, coquetry, while others pursue strictly impersonal methods. These two methods will be sharply outlined as never before, the seers predict.

Again it is foretold that the new year is to mark the culmination of post-war troubles, for crime, scandal and indifference to the law of brotherly love will be even more common than formerly.

The Moon enters Gemini today, a masculine sign ruled by Mercury and the influence is inauspicious for new or important undertakings.

This aspect usually brings sudden storms and much bad weather to be expected in eastern and northern states.

Under this sway the lungs and nervous system may be easily affected and the health should be watched.

Again dancing that carries with it a sinister meaning to those who understand will be popular.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid new enterprises and beware of false friends in the coming year. There may be many business troubles that can be overcome and the year should be very profitable.

Children born on this day will be active, resourceful, gifted and successful, in all probability.

Who's Who

Poland draws the attention of the literary world as one of its authors, Wladislaw Reymont, is awarded the 1924 Nobel prize for literature by the Swedish Academy. The award comes as just recognition of Reymont's efforts, the board believes.

Reymont, a member of the later school of Polish poetry, has had a career which reads like fiction.

He is now 56. He was born in what was then Russian Poland, the son of poor parents with twelve children. His father was a member of one of the patriotic bands which staged the rebellion of 1863 and a strong sense of nationalism was instilled into all his children.

Reymont was expelled from several schools because he refused to speak and write Russian. He pursued a number of careers before his writing was recognized.

Clerk, farmer, actor, telegraph operator and clerk again, he finally retired to a monastery, but spent only a few months there. Then he took up literature, at first in the form of poems, which attracted considerable notice.

His first short story, "Death," was published in 1894 and two years later he followed it with a novel, "The Comedienne," which was an immediate success. There followed "Fermentation," "The Promised Land," "The Vampire," "The Peasants" and "The Dreamer."

Reymont has been widely translated into nearly all the European tongues, but least of all English.

The award was for his novel, "Polish Peasants," in four volumes, issued between 1904 and 1909. The novel in reality is a review of Poland's history since that country's partition to the close of the eighteenth century. The volumes are entitled, "Autumn," "Winter," "Spring" and "Summer." Reymont was born in 1868.

Wild animals in captivity live at night an imaginative life that is entirely different from that of the day, says the superintendent of the London Zoological Gardens, who bases his view on his observations that after dark he found them attempting to stalk prey as though still in the jungle.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

GREAT MEN AND NATIONS

Until there is an England in which every man is a Cromwell, a France in which every man is a Napoleon, a Rome in which every man is a Caesar, a Germany in which every man is a Luther plus Goethe, the world will no more be improved by its heroes than a Brixton villa is improved by the pyramid of a Cheops. The production of such nations is the only real chance possible to us. Such is the philosophy of George Bernard Shaw.

Caesar's pupil said, "When I was foolish I did what I liked; now it is no use my liking or disliking; I do what must be done, and have no time to attend to myself. That is not happiness, but it is greatness."

And Shaw observes:

"Until the heart and mind of the people is changed the very greatest man will no more dare to govern on the assumption that all are as great as he than a driver dare leave his flock to find its way through the streets as he himself would."

"Great men," he said, "are those who, as dramatists planning the development of nations, are ahead of the scenes of the world instead of gaping and gushing in the auditorium after paying their taxes at the doors."

If the Superman is to come, he must be born of woman by mankind's intentional and well-considered contrivance, Shaw argues.

"The real Superman will snap his fingers at all men's present trumpery of ideals of right, duty, honor, justice, religion, even decency, and accept moral obligations beyond present human endurance."

"Fortunately, contem porary man does not force this, or he would order a new Massacre of the Innocents."

"Poets who plan Utopias and prove that nothing is necessary for their realization but that man should will them, perceive at last that the fact to be faced is that man does not effectively will them. And he never will till he becomes Superman," Shaw observes.

In Shaw's dreams "Heaven is a country where the State is the Church, and the Church the people; three in one and one in three. It is a commonwealth in which work is play, and play is Life; three in one and one in three. It is a temple in which the priest is the worshipper, and the worshipped the worshipped; three in one and one in three in one and one in three."

But we can go back further and we find that the whole income tax business is founded upon a wrong theory. It is not part of the Government's business to equalize the incomes of its citizens. Those incomes will always be unequal so long as human ability and human opportunity are unequal.

People should be taxed for what they spend, not for what they make. A simple tax, levied upon all that people buy, exempting something like $5,000, would be the correct tax. This is the sales tax.

The income tax is founded upon the robber theory, that it is the business of the Government to take money wherever they can find it. All tax should be based upon the value of the protection which a country gives its subjects. That value is better measured by what people buy than by what they earn.

A sales tax would be an equitable and fair method of avoiding the whole difficulty.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANEMIA

The word "anemia" literally means "without blood." There are two general types of anemia, primary and secondary. The primary anemia, most often called pernicious anemia, is one in which the cause is obscure. This is a very grave disease and has a different blood picture from the secondary anemia. When anemia comes as a result of a chronic disease or from hemorrhages, it is known as secondary anemia.

After the original trouble causing the anemia ceases, the blood rapidly builds itself up again, if the right foods in sufficient amounts and plenty of water are taken; (much outdoor living and other hygienic measures to be observed, of course).

Now the foods which are especially necessary to build blood are the foods containing protein (because the blood is a protein), and the iron bearing foods. The protein foods should be those containing complete protein; that is, one that contains all the building elements. The COMPLETE PROTEIN FOODS are as follows:

Milk—the most complete; meat, especially the meat of glandular organs such as liver, kidneys, sweetbread and brain; most nuts, peanuts and eggs.

Milk, on account of its super-complete protein and its abundance of calcium salts should be the big foundation of the diet, but because milk is low in iron, not enough should be taken to cloy the appetite for liberal amounts of the high iron bearing foods. (The amount of iron in milk varies according to the food that the animal is eating. It may contain twice as much iron when the animals are on the green pastures, as when they are on the winter feedings.)

Some recent investigations on two different groups of animals showed that those that were fed on bread and milk alone did not recover from bleeding nearly so rapidly as the other animals fed upon bread and milk, plus green foods. Other experiments show that the young animals that have been fed upon the bread and milk diet exclusively were anemic. Green foods hastened their recovery from this anemic condition. All this makes us realize that green foods and other iron bearing foods should be especially emphasized in the diet in anemia.

Deficiency of iron in the diet may lead to other disorders than anemia. In young pigs suckled by sows fed on food which did not contain enough iron, diseases were manifested similar to beri-beri in human beings.

L. N.: "Not long ago one of your readers complained that she could not launder her palm beach dress successfully. Here is my method: Wash palm beach material in warm water and a good white soap or white soap-chips (I realize that we cannot mention trade names in this column as that is advertising). Then, simply squeezing the dress in your hands (no wash board used) to loosen the dirt, rinse in several waters. The last rinse water should be clear. Now hang the garment on line, in the wind if possible, without wringing it. Iron on both sides, right from the clothesline without folding or rolling up. By following this simple procedure the material will look like new. I have washed a palm beach suit—coat and trousers—for three years in this way and it still looks as good as when it was bought. I make a suds of the soap chips."

Surprise Affair

George A. Axup of 119 South Adams street was given a pleasant surprise birthday party Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Anna Gritton, South Normandie avenue, Los Angeles. Entertainment for the guests included piano and vocal selections. Johnny Walker, converted movie actor sang solo and was accompanied by Mrs. Paul Campbell. Several duets were given by Elder McComas and Elder Campbell. Refreshments were served later in the evening, a feature being a large birthday cake with a miniature axe as a decoration and the initials U. P. to express the name of the honoree "Axup." The table was decorated with pink and lavender sweetpeas. Elder McComas offered prayer and remarks were made by Ralph O. Lovell, of Glendale and responded to by Mr. Axup. The following guests were present: Ralph O. Lovell, Robert Pullen, Mrs. Lawrence Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. George A. She accompanied her parents abroad last summer and upon returning to the states visited in the east, while Mr. and Mrs. Jones returned to California. She spent a month at the country home of Col. and Mrs. Oliver C. Hershman, "Allenhurst," New Jersey, and later accompanied Mrs. Hershman home to New York for a visit, motoring back to the Hershman home in Pittsburgh.

Miss Jones was honored at numerous social affairs while visiting at the Hershman home.

Christmas Party

Mrs. C. L. Vierock of 311 East Stocker street is to be hostess

Thursday afternoon at a Christmas party for members of the Madrigal club of Glendale. The affair will mark the close of the club's membership drive, in which Mrs. Helen MacMullin is still leading. Mrs. Charles A. Parker directed the club rehearsal yesterday at the church. There will be no rehearsal December 22, because of the proximity to Christmas.

F. V. D.:—There are various ointments recommended for piles, but as this can be serious trouble you had best consult your doctor.

D. F.:—There are so many reasons for falling hair, that it is almost impossible to tell you your trouble from your brief description. Here is a suggestion for the best general treatment—

Send me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed for the pilocarpine hair tonic formula. This will stimulate the growth of new hair, help clear away dandruff, and make the scalp antiseptic. It should improve the health of the hair so that the falling will stop. Meantime, shampoo every three weeks and massage the scalp every day. Never mind how the hair comes out, new hairs will come to take their place; those that fall are weak and diseased. If dandruff is bad, rub with sulphur ointment before you shampoo, letting the ointment stay on several hours or all night.

A Questioner:—The peroxide ammonia bleach (half and half) can be used every day or so until that fuzz above the mouth is bleached so light it cannot be seen.

If it irritates the skin, stop for a few days. Rub now and then with cream for peroxide does not grow hair unless it contains lanoline.

Tomorrow—Practical Casserole Dishes.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, so if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope should be used with the question, so that we may use YOUR full name, street number and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

The Wrath To Come

CHAPTER LX
"I can't wait," she declared.
"We might be interrupted. Get into the room and drop down at once. If you don't I swear I will keep my word. I will keep it before I count five. One, two, three—"

"Stop!" he begged. "I've had enough of this business. I don't suppose we should have touched the five thousand anyhow."

He swung round and entered the chart house. She listened to his brief conversation, covering him all the time. Soon they began what seemed to be a huge turn. The light of their port bow disappeared. Now it was abreast of them. Presently it was astern. The officer in charge finished his directions and came out of the chart room.

"We're back on Mr. Slattery's original course," he announced. "What will happen when that little fat man finds out, I don't know. Or what will happen to me, either?"

"Stick to it now," Susan enjoined, "and I'll do the best I can with Mr. Slattery. You've done all you can to make amends anyhow."

"I can't make out what it all means," he muttered. "What's become of the Skipper and Mr. Nicholson?"

"Locked in the engineer's room," she told him. "I can't understand why they couldn't make themselves heard, though."

The young man grinned weakly.

"They're behind solid mahogany," he declared. "All the doors in the officers' quarters are three inches thick. What's that?"

He swung round. Coming toward them, stealthily and sombrely through the darkness, was Blunn, walking on tiptoe, and behind him gaunt and grey, yet even more menacing, was Funderstrom.

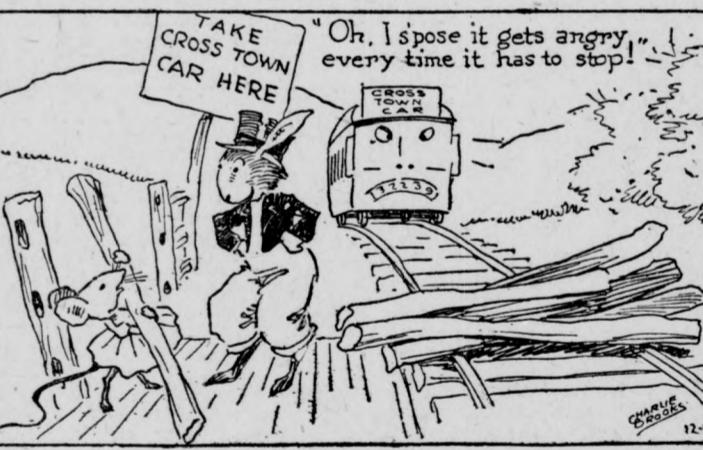

"Give me the gun," the young man begged. "I'm fed up with this."

Susan looked into his face and gave it to him. He turned towards the intruders, and the hand which held the pistol was as steady as a rock.

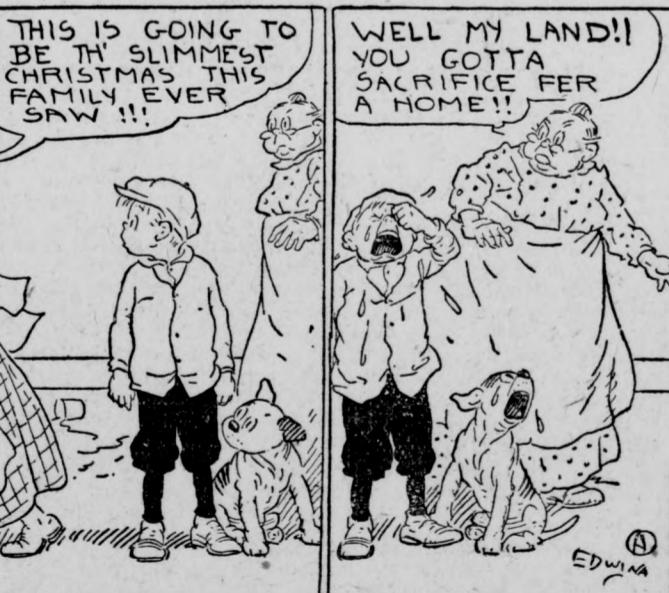

"Look here," he shouted. "Off my bridge, both of you! Not a word, or by God, I'll shoot you both."

They came to a standstill. The sailor on lookout duty stepped from his canvas shelter and stood staring at them.

Could you but see their wistful eyes-

They're mostly children. Wan faced . . . tired. A little frightened, perhaps, and puzzled. They can't quite understand what the White Plague is.

But you understand. You can't help but understand. That's why this message is not voiced as an appeal, but as a reminder. It is to remind you that each penny you spend for a Christmas Seal will be devoted to the fine, unselfish fight that is being made to stamp out Tuberculosis in California.

We do not feel that eloquence or fine pleading is needed here. You are asked only to obey the promptings of your own heart. Buy these Seals as you feel able—as many or as few as your circumstances permit.

The money you spend for Christmas Seals has an even greater mission than to relieve those now suffering from Tuberculosis. It will help in the steady, relentless fight to conquer the Great White Plague and remove the shadow that now hovers over thousands of children yet unborn.

There is no doubt Tuberculosis can, and is being, checked and prevented. In its earlier stages it can, and is being, cured. This work is being carried on with funds obtained from the sale of Christmas Seals. How long it will take to stamp out the disease will depend very largely on the number of Christmas Seals sold each year.

An indication of the splendid work already done in California through the sale of Christmas Seals may be seen in this fact: Last year there were but 173 more deaths from tuberculosis than there were ten years ago, although the population has increased 900,000 since that time. This is remarkable when it is known that the tuberculosis death rate in the United States is about 99 per 100,000.

Just one word more: Please be sure that the seals you buy are the official Christmas Seals, with the double-barred cross, put out by the National Tuberculosis Association. The official seal is pictured on this page.

This is the official seal—buy no other

NATIONAL LEAGUE MEETING STARTS

Judge Landis, Ban Johnson
Expected to Be Missing
During Sessions

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Midst reports that neither Judge Landis nor Ban Johnson, arch enemies of baseball's political ring, will attend the sessions, the first of three major league meetings, which will begin today at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria. It will be the annual meeting of the National league. Its magnates are said to be ready to chide Ban in no uncertain terms for his arraignment of the Giants, in toto, following the Dan O'Connell episode.

A resolution charging that Johnson has violated the major league agreement in criticizing Landis for his conduct of the scandal, also will be adopted by the National league, it is said.

A further claim may be made that the resolution may prompt some action in Johnson's own league, the American, which is alleged to have turned against him. Its meeting will be held tomorrow, and the early reports say that it will pass a resolution endorsing the Landis regime. Some even go so far as to claim that the American league may ask for Johnson's resignation.

Leaders Not Named

Landis may be forced to remain in the west, owing to the illness of Mrs. Landis. The identity of the man who would preside at the joint meeting of the leagues on Thursday, in the event of the judge's absence, has not been made known.

The marts of trade accelerated by the prospect of a New York-Chicago deal last week, have been all but stilled. The Giants decline to give up George Kelly, and the Cubs finally have them. Nothing further has been heard of the reds' attempt to get Bill Terry from the Giants, and Ty Cobb apparently has done little toward realization of his alleged ambition to obtain Riggs Stephenson from Cleveland.

State Finals On Grid This Year Halted

The winner of the Southern California football championship playoff will not meet the winner of the play-off in the northern part of the state for the state title, it has been determined by officials of the California Interscholastic Federation. The playoff in the southern section of the state remains unsettled, and will not be determined until two more games have been played, Orange and Glendale next Saturday, and the winner meeting Compton the following Saturday for the Southern California title. Officials of the C. I. F. decided that it would work a hardship on northern teams to wait until the title in this section was settled, and then play for the state title, which would probably not be until some time next month.

Wilson Midgets Win From Glendale School

Wilson Midgets won their second touchball game from Glendale Intermediate school Monday afternoon on the Wilson field, 13 to 0. Harry Chasse, Wilson's quarter carried the ball for most of the gains, and one touchdown was gained when he passed the ball over the goal line to Harold Caballero. Mylan Plasterer, Wilson's star interference man, scored two field goals. Dudley Wilcox, another Wilson Midget that showed up well when it came to receiving passes. The game was referred by Harry Lenz and A. N. Petty.

TOMMY GIBBONS READY FOR BOUT

Ring Veteran Will Battle
Kid Norfolk Tonight
In New York

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Tom Gibbons, faithful trainer, faithful friend and fond father, will resume tonight the upward climb toward fame and fortune that Horatio Alger, Jr., so generously arranged for gentlemen possessed of these virtues.

He will dally with Kid Norfolk, the light heavyweight brunet, in the 15-round feature of the Christmas fund show at Madison Square Garden and if our hero survives the ordeal with triumph and distinction he will be sent right along toward another bout with Dempsey.

If Norfolk wins the boys will be constrained to throw away the deck and call for a new deal.

However, our Mr. Rickard is so confident of the issue that he has signed Gibbons to a new contract for a Dempsey bout and Jack Kearns has added his voice to the clamor by wiring on from Los Angeles to inquire if it wouldn't be a nice thing for Dempsey to meet the winner next spring. It would—provided Gibbons is the winner. Norfolk just wouldn't do.

The odds say that Gibbons will come home in front, these being estimated anywhere from 5 to 3 to 2 to 1.

Select Field For Contests On Saturday

The Glendale - Orange heavyweight teams will clash at 2:15 o'clock next Saturday afternoon at Patterson stadium, Occidental college, to determine which school shall be represented in the finals of the Southern California playoff for the championship, it was announced today by Coach N. C. Hayhurst of the Dynamite squad.

These two teams battled to a scoreless tie last Saturday afternoon at Poly field, Santa Ana.

The championship of Southern California in the Class C division will be set the same day when Glendale's heavyweights meet Huntington Park. The bout is in a contest to start at 12:15 o'clock on the same field. These two teams played at Huntington Park December 3, the game ending 7 to 7.

L. A. police have set up a shooting gallery to get ready for this influx of eastern gunmen heralded a few days ago. It would seem that gunmen got here first then sent out their herald. Those nine murders—all as mysterious as whereabouts of Tony Fuentes—didn't just happen. Anyway—L. A. coppers are testing their shooting eye daily. Beware—you eastern gunmen. Boys are ordered to "shoot-to-get."

Governor Richardson says he's run ragged by friends of 150 different prospects for 12-round judges at ringside when new laws take spotlight. Surprising how many boxing experts can crop up when there's a job in sight.

Fugitive From Justice
13 Years Is Arrested

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Dec. 9.—Wallace R. Schraeder, 53, arrested here Sunday night as a fugitive from justice from Everett, Wash., where information to the sheriff said, three murder charges had waited thirteen years, today said only one person, his wife, died in the pistol fight "caused by her infidelity." He pointed to the scar on his neck as proof of the claim that he fell from a knife wound inflicted by a jealous rival early in the fight and had never known all the details.

MEANEST man in world has been unearthed. He made his family live in tent and cut holes in it for ventilation. Boy holding title before this was Mr. Volstead. This lets Volstead out and more run in.

Gunmen around L. A. had a tough time over weekend. Their act was gummed by slippery streets. Gave police much needed rest—and more time to discover how, where, why, when and by whom "Hard Hearted Hannah" was given a one-way ticket. Seattle didn't think much of "Hannah's" remains but L. A. was glad she wasn't left for police to worry about.

TRYING to keep speeders from killing more than half the population daily and gunmen from tying up traffic and closing all the banks, L. A. police are kept busier than deaf and dumb-hally-hoos with the rheumatism.

This fellow Calles must have cast some sort of spell over little playmates below Rio Grande. Hasn't been a revolution in more than week. Chamber of Deputies have let two weeks pass without making Swiss cheese out of chamber ceiling. Maybe Charlie Chaplin and school girl bride had something to do with it—this sudden calm.

Congress is at it again. Press gallery yawns as all law breakers try to talk at once and say nothing. Boys in Senate gallery who accounts said ran for President a month ago. Bob hasn't any more to say about what goes on in the Senate, than police have about what goes on in L. A.

High Schools' Champ Gridironers to Clash

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns, today offered to sign up John Hawkins, captain of the University of Southern California football squad and star college ball player. Hawkins said he would probably accept the offer the first of the year.

TOLEDO, Dec. 9.—Toledo Waite High school, national high school football champions of the United States, will probably journey to Portland, Ore., and play Lincoln High there on December 20, it was announced by school authorities this afternoon.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Culver City speed demons had a few more records to break before new track could be opened. Result was 250-mile classic was called off for another week. This makes the second time opening of track has been postponed. Speed demons expect to have all records broken by next Sunday. If they don't it won't be the fault of their press agent. He's chasing his Corona all over vacant lots adjacent to track trying to keep it cooled off for remaining records.

Trojans can form a hot-stove league now and gloat over the trouncing they gave "Chic" Meehan's warriors from salt town. We don't know just what this victory makes Trojans but it certainly makes 'em better than when St. Mary's trounced them. Orange team has no alibi. Typical eastern football weather greeted 'em. They got the breaks but Gloomy Gus was too smart for 'em.

Now if that team from where they have to be shown can drop in at coliseum and do the same thing "Chic" Meehan's squad did, Trojans will have some conversation really worth while to post-mortem at session of hot-stove league. Afraid Gloomy Gus is going to find a far-different brand of warriors in Gwynn Henry's mob than he found last Sunday.

Now comes big tilt of post-mortems—Irishmen vs. Cardinals, New Year's. Every major team playing football past season got set-back excepting Knute Rockne's men. Maybe they're due for one when they hit Pasadena. Cardinals, Pop Warner says, are in ship-shape. If so Rockne may expect a lot of opposition.

L. A. police have set up a shooting gallery to get ready for this influx of eastern gunmen heralded a few days ago. It would seem that gunmen got here first then sent out their herald. Those nine murders—all as mysterious as whereabouts of Tony Fuentes—didn't just happen. Anyway—L. A. coppers are testing their shooting eye daily. Beware—you eastern gunmen. Boys are ordered to "shoot-to-get."

Governor Richardson says he's run ragged by friends of 150 different prospects for 12-round judges at ringside when new laws take spotlight. Surprising how many boxing experts can crop up when there's a job in sight.

Why doesn't the governor give Joe Benjamin a chance. He's been lied often enough to know how it should be done if he can't do it.

MEANEST man in world has been unearthed. He made his family live in tent and cut holes in it for ventilation. Boy holding title before this was Mr. Volstead. This lets Volstead out and more run in.

Gunmen around L. A. had a tough time over weekend. Their act was gummed by slippery streets. Gave police much needed rest—and more time to discover how, where, why, when and by whom "Hard Hearted Hannah" was given a one-way ticket. Seattle didn't think much of "Hannah's" remains but L. A. was glad she wasn't left for police to worry about.

TRYING to keep speeders from killing more than half the population daily and gunmen from tying up traffic and closing all the banks, L. A. police are kept busier than deaf and dumb-hally-hoos with the rheumatism.

This fellow Calles must have cast some sort of spell over little playmates below Rio Grande. Hasn't been a revolution in more than week. Chamber of Deputies have let two weeks pass without making Swiss cheese out of chamber ceiling. Maybe Charlie Chaplin and school girl bride had something to do with it—this sudden calm.

Congress is at it again. Press gallery yawns as all law breakers try to talk at once and say nothing. Boys in Senate gallery who accounts said ran for President a month ago. Bob hasn't any more to say about what goes on in the Senate, than police have about what goes on in L. A.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondence of the Glendale Evening News. Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Tom Gibbons, faithful trainer, faithful friend and fond father, will resume tonight the upward climb toward fame and fortune that Horatio Alger, Jr., so generously arranged for gentlemen possessed of these virtues.

He will dally with Kid Norfolk, the light heavyweight brunet, in the 15-round feature of the Christmas fund show at Madison Square Garden and if our hero survives the ordeal with triumph and distinction he will be sent right along toward another bout with Dempsey.

If Norfolk wins the boys will be constrained to throw away the deck and call for a new deal.

However, our Mr. Rickard is so confident of the issue that he has signed Gibbons to a new contract for a Dempsey bout and Jack Kearns has added his voice to the clamor by wiring on from Los Angeles to inquire if it wouldn't be a nice thing for Dempsey to meet the winner next spring. It would—provided Gibbons is the winner. Norfolk just wouldn't do.

The odds say that Gibbons will come home in front, these being estimated anywhere from 5 to 3 to 2 to 1.

Now comes big tilt of post-mortems—Irishmen vs. Cardinals, New Year's. Every major team playing football past season got set-back excepting Knute Rockne's men. POWER ENERGY IN FUEL IS OBSERVED

Diesel Engine Is Acclaimed
Biggest Factor In Use
Of Crude Oil

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—B. T. U. That is not a traction stock in Wall street. According to Dr. Charles O. Lucke, head of the mechanical engineering department of Columbia university, and consulting engineer of the Worthington Pump and Machinery Co., B. T. U. is their biggest factor in the industrial life and future of the United States. It means British thermal units which measure scientifically the amount of power energy possible to extract from fuel of various sorts.

Production of energy and power from fuel today is one of the most expensive and wasteful processes in industry. The percentage of efficiency is startlingly low as a result of present methods of transformation and scientists all over the world are working toward betterment. More heat—merely another word for energy—from an equal amount of fuel as used at present means lower cost of manufacture, larger volume of production, higher wages for workmen, lower costs for consumers and larger profits for manufacturers. It spells prosperity for industry.

Therefore, B. T. U. was in reality back of Dr. Lucke's presentation of the merits of the two cycle double acting Diesel engine before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at its meeting here. He estimates that internal combustion engines of this sort can be operated for heavy duty non-stop purposes at 30 per cent of the cost of steam engines.

To "Process" Coal

There is every possibility that such internal combustion engines will revolutionize application of power from fuel for many purposes, especially for those requiring steady, long continued performance. The Diesel engine originally was identified with ships, but in the last few years has been widely selected for land uses, especially for operation of pumping stations and central power plants where continuous operations is essential and the equipment must be prepared to take up a peak load without an instant's hesitation.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The stock market leaped into dullness today after being pushed into higher price levels under the stimulus of a brisk rally in the copper, motor and industrial stocks in the first hour. While this forward movement was in progress, the pools marked up the prices of their favorite stocks and placed them in tempting array for the benefit of the outside public. But public trading was again in reduced volume.

While the copper stocks moved quietly but steadily into higher prices, with many representative stocks in this group, reaching new high levels for the year, spectacular moves were seen in the motors and in some of the industrial market leaders. Efforts of the bears to extricate themselves from American Can, Cast Iron Pipe and other preferred shares always produced sharp advances.

Pierce-Arrow preferred was a strong leader in the motors, advancing for an additional gain of five points and selling up to 54 against a low of 43. Maxwell stocks continued their advance movement. Chandler moved up two points at 34 1/2.

New specialty stocks were brought prominently to the front today. The list included American Chicle, Columbia Carbon, International Harvester, Coca Cola, and Great Western Sugar.

The railroad and steel stocks made a belated entry into the active stocks. Southern Railway was a feature of the former group, duplicating its former price at 77%; favorable comments on the current earnings of the United States Steel corporation attracted heavy buying of its stocks, which advanced 2 points in the late trading and sold near the high of the year. Independent steel stocks also took a spurt and added from 1 to 2 points to their selling prices.

There were few important changes today in the industrial and financial outlook. Sterling exchange went through a new high above 4.71. Steel mills reported a large advance in forwarded orders and an increase in current operations; money was unchanged with call funds at 3 1/4 per cent.

Stock sales, 1,743,000 shares; bonds, $15,007,000.

City Made Defendant In Improvement Case

Property Owners Hold Mass Meeting Tonight

An action in the Los Angeles superior court has been filed against the city of Glendale and the Gibbons & Reed Co. of Los Angeles, seeking equitable relief from the assessment for the improvement of El Rio avenue in Verdugo Woodlands, states Ray L. Morrow, city attorney. The action is brought by L. H. Myers and Zola F. Myers, his wife, of 1609 Camulos avenue.

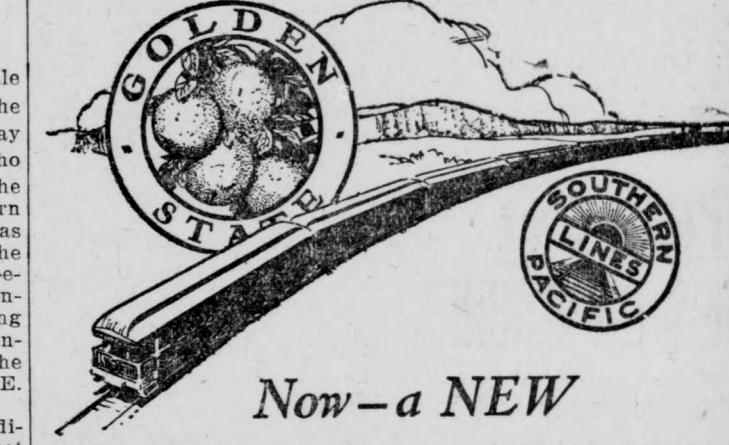

The complaint sets forth that the El Rio avenue proceedings were faulty, that the work was improperly done and that the assessment was inequitably made. The plaintiffs seek to set aside the assessment and ask that the city of Glendale and the Gibbons & Reed Co. be enjoined from collecting any further sums under the assessment. Mr. Morrow said that he will request an extension of time in which to file an answer to the complaint.

Letters mailed in London are delivered by air mail in Germany, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland the next day.

DEATH LURKS IN WAKE OF MILLIONS

Misfortune Follows Wealth Of McClintock Family For Thirty Years

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 9.—Whether death is to keep following doggedly and certain in the wake of the ill-fated McClintock millions—the blighting fortune as fatal as the famous Hope diamond—beneficiaries named in the as yet unpublished will of young William McClintock will tell.

With the passing of the youthful millionaire "orphan," must come a division of his $6,000,000 estate, and its removal finally and completely from the family that built it only to succumb to the devastating accompanying misfortunes. This may break the spell of these millions, or it may spread their ill-luck to new quarters.

Fortune Increases

Tragedy has been the lot of holders of the fortune from its establishment. Through death after death in the family of their founder, the huge accumulations have remained intact and then increased, but never has the owner been allowed long to enjoy them. Fate has seen to that, until now that they must be divided, an air of mystery and ill omen prevails.

From the time a mysterious Mr. Hickling made his million and died, through the years till now when that million, increased six-fold, passes from William McClintock in death, while his sweetheart stands at his bedside ready to marry him in any moment of rationality that might be allowed him in his illness, ill fate has held sway.

Thirty years ago Mr. Hickling had made his fortune and married. He then died leaving the fortune to his wife. She soon married William McClintock, Sr. and then passed on. The elder Mr. McClintock inheriting the fortune, married Miss Emma Nelson of Topeka, Kansas. To them was born one son, William McClintock, Jr.

Father Was Killed

In 1906 the father was driving his automobile slowly past a team of horses. That was a time when horses and automobiles were far less acquainted. The animals shied, drove the tongue of the buggy through Mr. McClintock's side, and the millions he had made from shrewd investments of the more modest fortune he had inherited passed to his wife. She died of heart disease two years later, leaving the fortune to her 5-year-old son, William.

Instead of going to distant relatives, William was taken into the family of William D. Shepherd, his father's closest friend. There the rich little orphan was constantly under a protecting wing, while his fortune, in a trust fund, kept growing. Threat of kidnappers kept the youth from enjoying the life that other boys led. He had constantly before him preparation for responsibilities that would be his when at 21 he assumed full command of his great wealth.

Seven months ago that time came. With it came anouncement of his engagement to Miss Isabelle Pope, a friend of his school days. He came home from Dartmouth college to be near her. Then came an attack of typhoid pneumonia, and again the McClintock fortune was affected by death.

Youth Left Will

Without heirs to claim it, these millions so ominous, untouched by any holder, lie in wait for the probating of the will the young millionaire made shortly before his death.

Almost certainly Miss Pope will be a substantial beneficiary. Almost certainly the Shepherds will receive a large share of the estate. Others, friends of his mother, may figure less prominently in the apportionment.

There is now no indication that any of them will balk at sharing in the fateful McClintock fortune. Probably they figure that with division of the huge estate will come an end to its deadly spell. Or probably they are willing to take a sporting chance in return for assured wealth for the remainder of their lives. Whatever the division of the millions, time alone can tell through their receipts, whether fate has decreed an end to the ill luck that this fortune has occasioned.

Republican Club Plan Relief Work for Vets

In order that the Glendale Republican club may be able to co-operate with other organizations in the city engaged in veterans' welfare work during the Christmas season, President R. S. Person has named a standing committee on war veterans' welfare, including Mrs. James F. McBryde, chairman, Mrs. George L. Kaeding, Mrs. Alice Woodberry, E. E. McWain, adjutant of Glendale American Legion; Colonel John D. Fraser and H. A. Severance. The committee will meet today or tomorrow and lay definite plans for co-operating with other Glendale organizations in veterans' relief work.

FOUR SOLONS LEADERS IN CONGRESS

Curtis, Borah, Smoot, Warren
Constitute Remaining
Force On Floor

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The United States Senate, like every other big "corporation" is run by a comparatively few of its members. On the Republican side the number of "directors" has been reduced materially by death in recent years, until only a big four remain—Curtis of Kansas, Borah of Idaho, Smoot of Utah, and Warren of Wyoming.

Of course there are a lot of valuable and important "assistants" scattered through the membership—men like Wadsworth of New York; Watson of Indiana; Jones of Washington, and so on—but the big work is done by the big four.

It will be noted of course, that all four members of the super quartet hail from west of the Mississippi river. The poor farmer no longer can say that the manufacturers of New England run the United States.

And yet New England is not obliterated from the national picture by any means. It has so happened that just as her star of empire in the Senate was setting a president was elected—the first in four or five generations—a president born in Vermont and introduced to politics in Massachusetts.

Dawes Handicapped

Executive influence for the tiny empire lying north of New York has succeeded legislative power. New England may occasionally be down, but she is never out.

One cannot help but wonder what Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes is going to do when he takes up the Senate gavel and finds himself presiding over a closed corporation—a corporation in which he will be but a figurehead and have no say whatsoever. Dawes, the dictatorial, will have to become Dawes, the submissive. Dawes, the go-getter, will become Dawes, the sit-still.

Curtis and Borah and Warren and Smoot will tell Charley what to do and Charley will have to do it or put a substitute in the chair. Inasmuch as General Dawes is not to sit with the Coolidge cabinet as Coolidge sat with the Harding cabinet it begins to look as if he would have a decidedly idle time of it in Washington. But maybe he won't be here much. That would be one solution of the troubles the vice-presidency is about to bring upon him.

Curtis Is Leader

Senator Curtis thus far in the session has been the most active of the big four. He has been designated "leader" of the majority and has been busy arranging all the preliminaries of the session. Senator Curtis is a real American, boasting a goodly quantity of Indian blood in his veins.

He is quite the antithesis of Henry Cabot Lodge, whom he succeeded as director general of the G. O. P. solons. Lodge was cold and austere; Curtis is cordial and genial. Lodge was tall and slender; Curtis is stocky. Lodge was pale; Curtis is somewhat swarthy; black hair and a large black mustache adding to the effect. Curtis will do with kindness and contact more than Lodge could do with the aloofness of the overlord.

Of all the big four, however, the strangest at this session is Smoot of Utah. The Smoot who returned to Washington late in November, was not the Smoot who left late in the summer. There was something missing. Even the galleries noticed it when he appeared the first day of the session. His fellow senators rubbed their eyes and looked twice at the familiar tall slim figure of the man from Utah parked itself on the second row aisle. It certainly was Smoot, and yet there was a slip somewhere, something had gone wrong.

Mustache Gone

Finally it dawned on everyone at once. The fair and drooping Smoot mustache was gone. (Cartoonists will please take note.) And there is a story back of the loss. One day during the campaign Smoot was trying to catch a train. He found he had time to visit a village barber. He asked that his mustache be trimmed. Before the senator realized what had happened, the tonsorial artist had trimmed not wisely but well. Only a bit of toothbrush had been left. Smoot was disgusted.

"Take it all off," he groaned, "and be quick about it." Looking at himself an hour or so later, the senator was rather pleased with the effect. But Mrs. Smoot was forlorn. She favored the mustache.

"It remains to be seen now," remarked the senator, "who is boss of the Smoot family." Thus far the senator has it; there is no suggestion that the mustache is about to grow again.

Trainmen's Injuries Hold Up Investigation

OAKLAND, Dec. 9.—Investigation of the Key Route accident last week which resulted in the death of eight persons and the injury of thirty-six others was temporarily halted today pending recovery from their injuries of V. C. Brubaker, motorman, and Ernest Knoblock, conductor of the Sacramento Short Line electric flyer that crashed into the rear of a Key Route Oakland train on the Key ferry trestle here.

A Belgian cyclist recently pedaled more than sixty-four miles an hour.
